

Keys Do The Rest

Written and Composed By: Anthony Holloway

Verse

Came through the door at a quarter past two
Started explaining before I asked you
Smelled like smoke and not my perfume
I knew right then what I had to do

Pre-Chorus

By sunrise, I was packing things up fast
You slept while your future became your past

Chorus

My picture is gone from beside your bed
My boots and boxes line the front step
You keep on talking, still making your case
I'm taking each piece of me from this place
Packing my car in your favorite sundress
And letting my keys [claps] do the rest

Verse

Told all my friends you were gonna change
Kept all your secrets, took half of the blame
Thought I'd always take your side
Now just watch the love of your life drive

Pre-Chorus

One last box, then I'm closing the door
You say you're sorry — heard it before

Chorus

My dresses are gone, the closet looks bare
My perfume's the last thing left in the air
You keep on begging, asking me to stay
I'm taking the last of my love away
Behind the wheel in your favorite sundress
And letting my keys [claps] do the rest

Bridge

You thought I'd break, you thought I'd stay
But the love you had is driving away
Yeah, the joke's on you, the road is mine
And I'm leaving only you behind

Chorus

My hands on the wheel, my heart running free
My whole life ahead looks damn good on me
I'm done letting your wild ways call my name
I drive away, you've got yourself to blame
Starting my life in your favorite sundress
And letting my keys [claps] do the rest

Outro

Slipped on your favorite sundress
And my keys [claps] did the rest
